

MULTILINGUAL WEEK

PABLO SERRANO'S GOT TALENT!!

During the multilingual week, the students of 2º ESO "A" did a talent show where they gave a good representation of the talents they have. The presenters and the judges were fantastic, and all the performances were just outstanding. Firstly, we had a music performance where a group of girls followed the rhythm of a song with cups; then, a monologue about all the funny situations we find when we go to the cinema; finally, a group of student sang a beautiful song in different languages.

Pablo Serrano has really got talent!!!!

Bob Dylan, American singer-songwriter, musician, author and artist, was awarded with the Nobel Prize in Literature in Stockholm, in 2016.

To celebrate it and being aware of the relevance of his influence on the arts world in our century, Mireya García (1º Bto) presented us a brief biography of the artist and read out, in a superb way, one of his best poems: "Masters of war"

Masters Of War

BY BOB DYLAN

Come you masters of war
You that build all the guns
You that build the death planes
You that build the big bombs
You that hide behind walls
You that hide behind desks
I just want you to know
I can see through your masks

You that never done nothin'

But build to destroy
You play with my world
Like it's your little toy
You put a gun in my hand
And you hide from my eyes
And you turn and run farther
When the fast bullets fly

Like Judas of old
You lie and deceive
A world war can be won
You want me to believe
But I see through your eyes
And I see through your brain
Like I see through the water
That runs down my drain

You fasten the triggers
For the others to fire
Then you set back and watch
When the death count gets higher
You hide in your mansion
As young people's blood
Flows out of their bodies
And is buried in the mud

You've thrown the worst fear
That can ever be hurled
Fear to bring children
Into the world
For threatening my baby
Unborn and unnamed
You ain't worth the blood
That runs in your veins

How much do I know
To talk out of turn
You might say that I'm young
You might say I'm unlearned
But there's one thing I know
Though I'm younger than you
Even Jesus would never Forgive what you do

Let me ask you one question
Is your money that good
Will it buy you forgiveness
Do you think that it could
I think you will find
When your death takes its toll
All the money you made
Will never buy back your soul

And I hope that you die
And your death'll come soon
I will follow your casket
In the pale afternoon
And I'll watch while you're lowered

Down to your deathbed
And I'll stand o'er your grave
'Til I'm sure that you're dead

PABLO SERRANO'S MORNING NEWS

That same week, the students of 4º ESO "B", with the participation of 1º Bachillerato students presented the news of the High School, told us everything that happened during the school year up until that day. The presenters interviewed one of the girls who hosted an Australian student, telling us about her wonderful experience. Then, they did several interviews informing us about the new programme to support new students or avoid bullying. Some students who take catholic religious studies told us all about their trip to Rome and how they found the audience with the Pope and their visit to important places such as the "Fontana di Trevi" or the catacombs...

After that, students from the science department described the contest they participated in and how they got to make crystals. It was really interesting. Then, different students talked about their experiences in both, the exchange carried out in Crema, Italy and the trip to London. Both trips were described as a really extraordinary experience. In Italy they enjoyed the culture, their correspondents and their families, the places they visited... and London was a once in a lifetime experience. They loved everything about it: the hostel, Camden, the museums, the Globe, Cambridge, Hyde Park, Greenwich, Big Ben...

There was even time for the weather forecast and some commercials announcing our high school merchandising: t-shirts and bags. If you don't have one, make sure you get one soon!!!!

BRITISH HISTORY SEEN THROUGH ART

During the multilingual week I had the opportunity to give a presentation about the history of the UK. I chose the most interesting and famous aspects of our history from the very beginning starting with Stonehenge, through to the modern era, with examples of art such as; The Millenium Bridge and The London Eye. British History is very rich and interesting and many things have happened there over time.

After the presentation there was a quiz. This was to test there new found knowledge and give the students the chance to win some cool prizes. The quiz had some challenging questions but the ones who took part did very well!

I gave the presentation to the 2º Bachillerato classes and most of them have told me that they loved the presentation so I would be more than happy to do something similar in the future.
